COUNCIL TENANTS TO BE 'SOLD' TO BIG BUSINESS!

BLAIR'S PRIVITISATION IN FULL SWING

Council tenants 'in the know' up and down Britain are furious about New Labour's drive to privatise their homes. And those who haven't yet learned what is going on are in for a rude shock when they find that they and their homes are being forcibly handed over to big private companies. It's going to mean higher rents, the break up of communities, and even poorer housing standards, but it's going to make big profits for New Labour's big business backers, so the wishes of the vast majority count for nothing.

Local authorities across Britain are handing their entire housing stocks – and every single one of their unfortunate tenants – over to profit-hungry private corporations.

The Voice of Freedom says ...

WHEN YOU LAY DOWN WITH DOGS

A fourth man, as yet not named, has been arrested in Colombia with links to the IRA/Sinn Fein.

Last month, Colombian troops arrested three known IRA members in a remote area the size of Switzerland controlled by the Marxist Revolutionary Armed Forces of Columbia (FARC).

Speculation has been rife that the IRA men were training the FARC guerillas in explosives for use against the Colombian government.

The three men, who arrived in Colombia on false passports, claim that they were "on holiday" in the terrorist jungle training camp at which they were captured!

Laughably, Sinn Fein appear 'embarrassed' that some of its members have been caught out helping terrorism abroad and Sinn Fein President, Gerry Adams, has denied that they were members of Sinn Fein.

It will come as no surprise to readers of Freedom to find that Adams lied. One of the original three was one Niall Connolly who has lived and worked in Cuba for the last five years as Sinn Fein's Latin American ambassador.

More embarrassing is the news that Adams is scheduled to visit Cuba to meet its ageing Communist President, Fidel Castro. The visit set up by... yes, you've guessed it — Niall Connolly!

The news that Connolly is Sinn Fein's link to Latin America has come from the Cubans who are most keen to escape any charge that they might have been 'exporting terrorism'. Ironically, the country that is 'exporting terrorism' to Colombia is not Cuba, but Britain. Since the 'Peace Agreement' in N. Ireland, Sinn Fein have entered shared government. Sinn Fein President Gerry Adams is the leader of Sinn Fein within the British N. Ireland government. Adams is still a member of the 7-man IRA Army Council. Martin McGuinness, another member of the British government within N. Ireland, indeed it's Minister for Education, is also a member of the same IRA Army Council and from 1971-1973 was the commanding officer of the IRA's Derry brigade rising to Director of 'Northern Operations' in 1975.

The British government has been caught out harbouring terrorists within its ranks. The follow-on is that Britain has been 'exporting terrorism' to S. America.

As the old saying goes: When you lay down with dogs, you get up with fleas.

BLAIR'S WAR ON COUNCIL HOUSING!

The switch is being 'sold' to hundreds of thousands of tenants in various guises, and even presented as a 'choice' in many cases: "You can stay as you are but we won't have any money for even basic repairs, or you can agree to the new housing partnership taking over and straight away there'll be millions of pounds available for improvements."

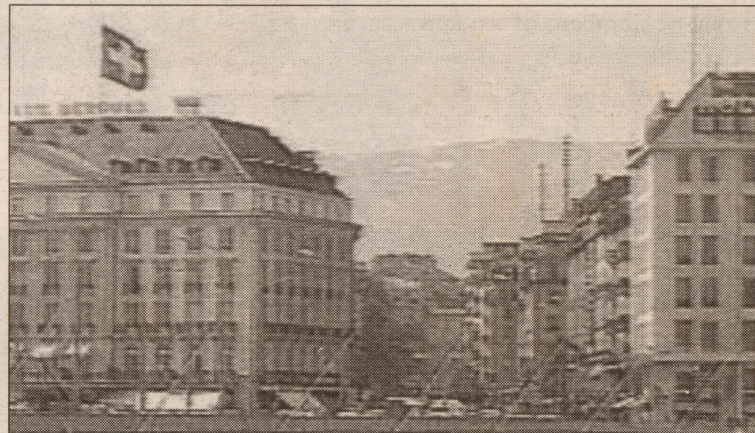

It's an offer no one is likely to refuse, especially as there is no mechanism by which the tenants can oppose the handover anyway.

But make no mistake, the cash being made available to pay for the improvements is taxpayers' money in any case, and it is being handed over to private corporations as a sweetener to make it worth their while taking on the 'burden' of having a captive market paying them rising rents for ever.

This despite the fact that many older tenants have paid many times the construction and maintenance costs of their homes in rent over the years.

The wording used to describe the new housing companies is designed to con people into thinking that they are some sort of community association, but the truth is that they are run by massively overpaid executives, and are designed to bring in 'market forces' to council housing and make massive profits prior to full privatisation in a few years' time.

In areas where the first stage of the changeover has taken place, 'efficient' housing associations are already failing to house local youngsters or throwing out the elderly in order to make room for asylum seekers, whose rents are paid by the taxpayer. Housing newcomers is more profitable than looking after our own people, so out they go! In London tional Party is behind them all the way. But a single day of protest, however justified, won't change anything by itself. Council tenants — and indeed everyone worried by New Labour's huge undercover privatisation operation of everything from schools, hospitals and new roads — need to realise that what's going on is the direct result of the way in which millions of decent people keep on voting for the failed, internationalist Lib-Lab-Con parties.

All the old parties accept that it was right for Britain to sign up to the World Bank's General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS), which gives the government of the day no choice but to replace public services with private profit.

So a vote for any of the old parties, is a vote to be fleeced, whether you're a council tenant, a car driver, a parent, a health service user or a taxpayer.

Only the British National Party will tear up the GATS agreement and put our own people before foreign banks and greedy big business.

IRA BOMB LONDON - WHY DO WE PUT UP WITH IT?

Alan Fry, head of Scotland Yard's anti-terrorist branch, said: "It is fortunate that we are not dealing with mass murder. This was a barbaric act on the streets of our capital."

A gray Saab packed with 881bs of home-made explosive was parked in Ealing Broadway, the heart of one of London's busiest suburbs with pubs, clubs and restaurants packed with young people.

Police had 27 minutes to locate and deal with the bomb with scant information.

The 'warning' came in a telephone call to a doctor's at 11.33pm. Using what was later confirmed as a recognised 'Real' IRA code, the caller said there was a car bomb in 'Ealing Broadway Road'.

The bomb exploded 20 seconds after midnight. Shop and pub windows were shattered. Debris from the car rained over a 200-yard radius. The estimated cost of the attack runs into millions of pounds.

This is just one among a series of bomb attacks against the British people perpetrated by the 'Real' IRA in recent months.

The headquarters of the BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) has been targeted and narrowly escaped a blast.

Meanwhile, the terrorists apologists and political lackeys in Ulster are sitting in public office drawing salaries from taxpayers funds!

The Minister of Education in Northern Ireland is none other than former IRA commander Martin McGuinness!

The recent terrorist outbursts come amid a breakdown of the political process in Northern Ireland that has deteriorated into deadlock and stalemate.

Several years after the so-called "Good Friday Agreement", which put former terrorists in public office and allowed swarms of convicted terrorists serving their sentences to be released, the IRA has yet to decommission a single bullet, fobbing off weak British politicians and gullible left-wing journalists with verbal garbage like promising to put the weapons "behind all possible use."

Common sense dictates that the only point at which the IRA wouldn't be able to use their vast arsenal of weapons is if they were out of their reach, i.e. handed over to the province's security services or the international decommissioning body.

Yet while still under possession of the IRA the weapons can still be used at any time they are needed.

This typical piece of spin, closely mirroring the tactics used by New Labour spin-doctors, was hailed as "historic" by certain sections of the British press!

The politicians, continually moving "deadlines" for decommissioning to suit the Republicans have disgracefully appeased the IRA for too long.

A kalashnikov assault rifle recovered from the IRA's arsenal

The prisoners released under the Good Friday Agreement are out on the understanding that the IRA would keep their end of the bargain and would disarm.

They haven't given up a single bullet, will we now see them sent back to prison?

The real question is why do we put up with the continued threat of this terrorist organisation?

Faced with a terrorist threat, the United States of America uses the combined might of its armed forces to neutralize the threat, most times with British backing both morally and militarily. The time has come for us to do the same.

The BNP will eradicate all paramilitary forces in Northern Ireland by all possible means. We will build a non-sectarian future for the white children of Northern Ireland free of violence and communal strife.

The aftermath of the Ealing bomb blast. Luckily, no one was killed.

EUROTUNNELL LAUNCHES LEGAL BATTLE TO CLOSE REFUGEE STOP-OVER CENTRE

Eurotunnel has launched a legal bid to close the French Red Cross warehouse from where thousands of 'asylum seekers' make attempts to enter Britain illegally.

The company wants the Sangatte building near Calais, which holds around 1,275 asylum seekers to close because it faces fines of up to £2000 for each asylum seeker caught get-has spent around £3 million on razor wire, employed more than 100 guards and installed CCTV cameras and other security equipment but has had little effect on the numbers of asylum seekers flooding into Britain.

Requests for soldiers or policemen to patrol the perimeter and for 60 Kent police officers to work at the site have all been turned down. The Sangatte cen-

Eurotunnel boss Bill Dix: His company is trying to run a viable business and is tired of paying the lion's share for policing asylum seekers taining large numbers of asylum seekers whose sole intention is to reach the UK and who trespass onto the terminal in ever increasing numbers.

Eurotunnel is concerned about people stowing away on its trains because the British Government is threatening to fine it £2,000 for every illegal immigrant reaching Britain. This would cost the company millions of pounds each year and it has stated it is not prepared to pay.

Eurotunnel has taken all reasonable measures to prevent would-be refugees from using the tunnel to gain entry to Britain. As we have seen, this is a burden no single company can and should be expected to carry alone. The Government has a duty to patrol and secure the nation's borders, and shouldn't pass the buck to an organisation with limited authority and resources.

● Riot police used tear-gas to quell a massive disturbance at the refugee centre near Calais, when around 100 Afghan refugees were chased by Kurds who attacked them with knives and stones in a dispute over identification documents.

ting into Britain through the tunnel.

Eurotunnel already catches as many as 400 people every night at the Coquelles terminal, but around 800 per month are still getting through. The company tre exists solely to provide food and shelter to economic migrants who then proceed to attempt to enter Britain illegally.

The company wants to regain control of the building, which it owns. The warehouse was requisitioned by the Calais local authority in September 1999. Eurotunnel has issued a writ requesting that the requisition of its building is suspended immediately and then cancelled. If a court in Lille agrees the building could be closed within a month.

Eurotunnel claims the French state hasn't done enough to ensure the security of the French terminal. This security, Eurotunnel claims, has been compromised by the creation, just two kilometres away, of a refuge con-

WE'RE SECOND CLASS CITIZENS!

The Bell Ringers of Hare Krishna... they get funding but St. George doesn't get a penny!

Birmingham City Council, still reeling over its defeat at the hands of the BNP over the use of taxpayers money to censor the party's website in Birmingham's libraries, has a notorious reputation for its loony-left politically correct credentials.

Last month a row erupted over its bizarre spending priorities as leisure chiefs dipped into taxpayers money to finance the bell ringers of Hare Krishna, an obscure Indian religious sect. £2000 was given to pay for road closures for its first ever march and rally through Birmingham city centre.

The donation comes from a £80,000 kitty set aside to underwrite religious festivals such as Eid, Visakhi and Diwali.

But a request from a local Scouts group for £2000 to celebrate St. George's day was turned down!

The Sutton Coldfield East troop had to cancel the traditional event they have held for over 40 years because they could not pay the council's road closure bill.

Birmingham City Council spokesmen explained that the scouts march didn't meet the criteria for grants - because it was being held in the suburbs. The Hare Krishna bell ringers got the money because they were marching in the city centre.

They said: "All the events that receive any funding are multicultural and the purpose of it is so everyone can find out about other cultures..."

The truth is that the Hare Krishna 'bell ringers' are an obscure foreign religious sect, hence worthy of public money in the eyes of the slimy politically correct bureaucrats that infest the council, while the British boy scouts wanting to celebrate St. George's day are indigenous and British — so they don't deserve a penny!

The British boy scouts were refused funding

THE BNP AND IMMIGRATION

The BNP is best known for its policy on immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK because, according to Britain's leading population experts, the native British people will be a minority in this country in just a few short decades.

To avoid this, we will halt all further immigration and asylum seeking, and introduce a system of voluntary resettlement whereby immigrants resident in Britain will be encouraged, but not forced, to return to their lands of native origin.

Should they choose to return home, the government would provide all the necessary funds, and should some choose to stay, they can, and will be provided the full protection of the law.

The British National Party is opposed to 'multiculturalism', and the massive conflict and hatred it causes.

We feel that all forms of life on this planet are sacred and should be preserved, but the BNP specifically wishes to preserve those ethnic differences which make up the rich tapestry of mankind. We oppose those who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash. We believe firmly in ethnic and national identity.

To protect and preserve the ethnic and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes that all races and peoples have a right to a homeland.

All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland. Yet very soon we will lose ours, because we cannot bring ourselves to say 'no' to immigration. In short, Britain is being colonised.

The British people were never given the chance to vote on whether they wanted Britain to become a 'multicultural' society. It was forced on us by the politicians against the clear wishes of the people.

To sum up, the British National Party is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British people, but of all peoples and cultures around the world against those who seek to destroy all forms of identity.

DRUGS AND ORGANISED CRIME SWEEP THE NATION

Seventy tons of Heroin and cocaine and more than 100 million ecstasy tablets flooded into Britain last year. Police now say they face huge difficulties tackling the growing problem and despite increased efforts, have only been able to seize a tenth of the total.

The National Criminal Intelligence Service say up to 900 organised gangs are suspected of making £8 billion from the trade, though they are also branching out into tobacco and alcohol smuggling, credit card fraud and even armed robberies and kidnapping.

Around 40 tons of cocaine and 30 tons of heroin entered the country last year. However, police and customs officials seized only three tons of cocaine and two of heroin. Most of the heroin is from Afghanistan and is processed in Eastern Turkey and delivered through central and eastern Europe.

In Britain it is distributed largely by Turkish traffickers, though they are being joined by white groups and Afro-Caribbean gangs.

Teenage boys as young as 15 are being recruited by drug-dealing gangsters to carry out contract killings it also emerged last month. Police intelligence states that rather than taking unnecessary risks and paying large amounts of money carrying out the killings themselves, they are employing teenage inner-city dwellers attracted by the gangster image promoted by Hollywood and the media to do it for them.

Civilisation is breaking apart in Britain: gun crimes in England and Wales have risen by 22% since 1996 to a huge 17,000 last year. The number of injuries caused by guns used in various crimes has risen by 60% with around 62 people losing their lives in gun related shootings. Police estimate that there are at least 250,000 illegal guns in circulation in the UK. Guns, however, are not the issue. It is the criminal and drug-gangs that employ them that is the problem.

When all handguns were handed in several years and possession became illegal, rather than curbing the amount of gun related incidents the number went up.

Even in America, where there have been a large number of high-profile teenage killings involving guns, if you take the ethnic composition out of the equation, the levels of gun incidents of the white population are identical if not lower than Western European levels. As the saying goes, it isn't the gun that kills but the person who pulls the trigger.

Drugs and organised crime are now serious and growing problems in Britain. It is a problem that can only be tackled and defeated by a government with a backbone. None of the contemporary parties in Britain have proved themselves capable of resolving this problem, addicted as they are to political correctness and soft liberals ways of dealing with criminals.

SOUTH LONDON SUFFERS UNDER LIBERAL POLICING

Lambeth is South London is now the street crime capital of Britain making it impossible for residents to lead a normal life because of the crime rates with almost 5,000 robberies, almost 8,000 violent offences, around 561 sexual offences and 4,748 burglaries in the last year.

Lambeth is also reeling under a shortage of police, and the police that are there are handicapped by the politically correct policing strategy enforced by London's top brass.

Ordinary bobbies on the beat are now being deliberately goaded by cannabis smoking kids who cross civic boundaries into Lambeth to take advantage of the lax treatment given to those arrested for possession of cannabis under the new pilot scheme announced a few months ago.

Cannabis users don't run the risk of criminal conviction if they are caught lighting up a spliff in Lambeth. They do have their stash confiscated.

Fifty-five people have received formal warnings against them for possession of the class B drug under the scheme, which is expected to run up until the New Year.

Is Lambeth's burgeoning violent crime rate something to do with the fact that young men taking cannabis are five times more likely to be violent than those who don't?

Dope-smokers are dashing into Lambeth to take advantage of the silly pilot scheme which means they won't be arrested

What will Tony Blair do with his second term (apart from paying himself more)? His key task is to improve public services — education, transport and above all, health.

That is why, ever since Labour's landslide, a large body of company executives who have never voted Labour in their lives are grinning as broadly as the PM himself.

These are the outsourcing and private finance wallahs, a strange new breed that is multiplying like a swarm of locusts on Viagra... Make no mistake. Another four or five years of New Labour, and some of these will be giants.

Their limousines will be longer, and their new language - PFI and PPP - will crop up wherever jargon is spoken. I am not too sure I fancy entering an NHS hospital in 2010.

Struggle through the shopping mall (run by Marks & Spencer) and video games arcade (Electronics Boutique), log on to the call centre (run from Bangalore), key in personal details and credit card numbers, and Get Well PLC will either tell you have a week to live, or direct you to Inverness in six months for that hip replacement.

Thank goodness for the British National Party! What would my friends of the liberal metropolitan elite — or their colleagues in the media — do without it?

Those battles in Burnley, the arson in Accrington, trouble in Leeds, riots in Oldham?

Well, you see, the BNP is hard at work, stirring people up against the ethnic minorities.

Then there are the comments of Perish the thought that these problems stem from the metropolitan elite's readiness to permit, embrace and encourage mass Commonwealth immigration since the 1960s — despite the immense hostility to it among ordinary voters shown in poll after poll.

For our rulers, the small livestock farmers of England (as opposed to the large-scale arable farmers) are evidently expendable. After all, they tend to be conservative in the true sense; they are patriotic; they come from some of the best human stock in England. But they have got in the way of planned, multicultural Britain, of 'Europe', of the future One-World Government.

Peter Simple
Daily Telegraph

Why do they always lie to us? This week some 1,000 paratroops will embark on Tony Blair's latest crusade to make the Balkans safe for humanity. They are going to Macedonia on the craziest mission British soldiers have endured at the hands of politicians. They are going to gather up 3,000 weapons volunteered by what was, until recently, a small band of Albanian insurgents. They may use no force and must retire home 'within 30 days.'

After 30 days the troops are out, win or lose. This is another Balkans lie. To tell any army, however raggle-taggle, to hand over weapons within a month or be allowed to keep them makes no sense.

British troops know all about disarmament. They have been 'disarming' warlords in Kosovo for 18 months, and in Ulster for 18 years. Key to their failure has been a conviction on the other side that Britain has no real stomach for a fight. Nato's '30 days' is like Mr Blair telling the IRA every six months that it must disarm, on pain of being given another six months.

The Times

"WE'RE NOT GOING BACK"

Most bogus refugees stay in Britain, while only a fraction of the asylum seekers refused the right to stay in Britain have been expelled reveal new government statistics.

New Home Office statistics show that while 43,465 bogus refugees were told to leave last year, the number actually removed or voluntarily departing was only a pitiful 8,980!

According to the statistics, the number of refugees removed or who left Britain rose to 8,980 last year compared with 6,989 in 1998 and 7,663 in 1999.

Last year 43,465 were given their marching orders, compared with 14,730 in 1998. The Home Office stated that one of the reasons why so few bogus refugees are deported is because they abscond into their communities.

The statistics also showed that 125,100 people were granted the right to stay last year - 55,000 more than in 1998.

But the latest figures are to be treated with the utmost caution, as the reputation of Labour to massage the figures to suit its own political agenda is notorious.

Several months ago we reported on the fixing and fiddling of the asylum figures leading up to the election. It emerged that when a refugee family arrived in the UK, the whole lot were lumped together in one "claim". So a family of six count as one claim. But when their claim for asylum is refused, each individual is counted as a deportee and hence shows up on the figures as 6 people deported! This means that the numbers of immigrants are six times lower than they should be!

NEW LABOUR TARGETS DISABLED PEOPLE

An asylum seeker has been housed in top four star hotel for months, costing Central Westminster Council over six thousand pounds so far in hotel bills.

According to the press department at Westminster Council Mohammed Faqey's room at the plush Central London Hotel near Hyde Park is the only place available to the local council to house a disabled person.

When asked why British disabled persons are housed in temporary bed and breakfast accommodation and asylum seekers are housed in top hotels the council refused to comment.

When asked why better facilities for British disabled people are not available in a rich council area like Westminster the council also refused to reply.

Wheelchair bound Mr. Faqey from Lebanon is appealing against the Home Offices refusal to grant him asylum. In August Sunderland Council removed the free bus passes policy for local blind and disabled people in Sunderland, and instead awarded free bus passes to asylum seekers so they could travel around the town easier whilst looking for jobs to undercut British workers.

Whilst the blind and disabled are ignored the rights of refugees are elevated to a council priority.

Last year the Labour government decided to shut down the MOD factories that offered work to disabled ex-servicemen and women, and that also offered places in the job market for profoundly disabled people otherwise excluded from the world of work.

The vast amount of tax payers money that Tony Blair spends on flying in army aircraft on his high profile junkets and holidays abroad would have guaranteed that the factories remained open.

In the meantime over ninety million pounds have been awarded by government and various other politically correct quangos so that ethnic minorities can set up their own black and Asian only cultural centres across the country.

Only a few weeks ago the Government stated that they intended to means test every applicant for disabled persons benefit and check through claims to weed out those it considers not disabled enough.

Instead of ensuring that the millions of illegal refugees infesting this country that are claiming benefits illegally and draining the welfare budget are fished-out and removed the government instead decided to launch another witch hunt against the disabled.

Instead of hiring staff to stop illegals coming into this country, or vetting them to ensure the criminals are unable to enter, this government would rather treat its weakest people as the internal enemy and send an army of hired snoopers and pen pushers to work robbing them of their rights.

This Labour government is an unjust, immoral and arrogant monster, that pursues and penalises the poorest and most vulnerable people in our country whilst exalting the rights of foreigners above our own people.

LITERACY RATES PLUMMET TO RECORD LOW

Functional illiteracy rates in Great Britain are now running at almost 25% of the population.

With almost one in four adults

24% of youngsters leaving school are illiterate and teenagers leaving school unable to read and write properly the country is facing an education crisis that threatens the fabric of society itself.

Without the basic social skills such as reading and writing individuals are excluded from mainstream society. Industrial and manufacturing development depends upon us integrating all available labour into the economy - an illiterate population cannot contribute to the development of industry and society itself.

'Trendy' teaching methods, lack of discipline and the teaching profession surrendering to the politically correct teachings of the sixties academics has led to this crisis in education. Successive governments have abandoned children to the liberal pressure groups within the teaching profession to the detriment of the children and the country itself.

A recent report states that illiteracy rates at the end of the First World War amongst the British Public were running at around two percent. Since then the number of those functionally illiterate has risen dramatically.

We regard this crisis as a national emergency. The BNP pledges a revolutionary overhaul of the teaching profession so that in future the interests of children and the nation take precedence over the dictates of the politically correct social engineers that have dragged the teaching profession down into the pit of purile political dogma.

BNP PUBLICATIONS

BNP Activists' Handbook

This handbook is an instruction course in many of the essential techniques needed in promoting and building the BNP, at local level, starting from scratch when the activist is entirely alone. This booklet is a mine of information that all activists, old and new, will find valuable in the quest to make their activities more efficient and effective. It is a 'must' for everyone who wants to be more than just an armchair nationalist. The handbook is illustrated and runs to 71 pages. £2.00 post-free.

BNP Propaganda handbook

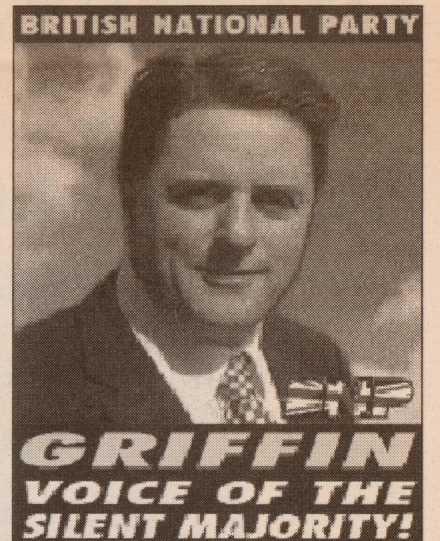

Spreading the Word deals with propaganda and supplements the Activists' Handbook. Illustrated, Spreading the Word is 60 pages and contains five sections:- (1) Principles of Propaganda; (2) Recruitment; (3) Canvassing for Elections; (4) Speaking to the Media; and (5) Public speaking and presentation of Party meetings. Special attention is also given to dealing with opposition smears. £2.00 post-free.

CONSERVATIVE PARTY CAPITULATES TO POLITICAL CORRECTNESS!

Edgar Griffin, hard working member of the Tory Party for 53 years. His reward? To be disgracefully expelled because of the political views of his wife and son!

A STORM erupted last month in the Tory leadership election that started with the disgraceful expulsion from the Conservative Party of Edgar Griffin, after 53 years of loyal campaigning and membership, over his alleged "links" with the BNP.

The farce demonstrates all too clearly the extent to which the modern Conservative Party leadership is willing to appease the forces of political correctness that infest the British body politic and mass media.

The only links Mr. Edgar Griffin has with the BNP is that his wife Jean is the BNP's Enquiries' Secretary, is a fully paid up member and was a BNP candidate at the last election (standing against Iain Duncan Smith no less!), and that his son, Nick Griffin, is the present Chairman of the British National Party. Edgar has at no point been a member of the BNP.

We in the BNP find this latest media-hyped muddle astonishing as it all too clearly demonstrates how the modern Conservative Party is prepared to surrender to the anti free-speech forces of political correctness that at many times it has claimed to loath.

Although the policies of the BNP differ substantially with those of the Tory Party, the grass roots ordinary membership of the Conservative Party are in large part ordinary patriotically minded people who abhor political correctness and who would find the common-sense policies of the BNP largely in line with their own views.

We reject claims by some that the BNP is in some way attempting to "infiltrate" the Tory Party. It is a claim rooted in fantasy and desperation. The BNP is concentrating on building its own power winning machine and wouldn't waste time trying to interfere with a declining party that has long passed its sell by date.

A large number of BNP organisers around the country are themselves ex-Tory and ex-Labour activists and left those organisations in disgust at their craven sell-out to the forces of political correctness.

The BNP itself has received a large amount of publicity over the affair including a large 'comparison' of BNP and Tory policies in the Guardian. Edgar himself must be commemorated for defending the BNP in the face of media condemnation. Edgar is planning to appeal against his expulsion. More in due course.

Duncan Smith: willing to appease the forces of political correctness

'JERUSALEM' BANNED FOR BEING TOO 'NATIONALISTIC'!

A politically correct vicar has banned bride Victoria Williams from having her two favourite hymns sung at her wedding because they are "too English"!

The trainee bank manager was shocked when she was told that 'Jerusalem', and 'I Vow To Three My Country' were unsuitable. The Reverend Donald Allister simply ruled: "Sorry, you can't have those, they're too nationalistic"! Now Victoria and fiance Stuart Turton have been forced to switch their ceremony to another church.

Victoria, 26, expected to exchange vows with 27-year-old Stuart next month at Cheadle Parish Church in Stockport, Greater Manchester, until the vicar ruled that, in particular, Jerusalem signified that "England was best" which he claimed was "not appropriate".

Victoria of Livingston, near Edinburgh, said the change had caused big problems with invitations already sent out. The 49 year-old vicar defended the decision. He said: "It is our choice what hymns are sung in church. It is true to say that in a sense Jerusalem is nationalistic because it is saying that England is best. We all want to be patriotic, but in a proper way and this hymn is just not appropriate".

Yet, this vicar has been in the news before. He once said that homosexuals in the church represent "something evil".

As BNP members already know, after major events it is now BNP tradition to sing Jeru-

Victoria and Stuart have been forced to make other plans salem to end the proceedings. Jerusalem is an inspiring Christian hymn that is part of our heritage in this island. Just as most other areas of British culture and tradition are dumped in the project to turn our country into a multiracial province in the forthcoming European Empire, the BNP is delighted that it is fast becoming the standard bearer of British heritage and the only party dedicated to resurrecting a proud and free Britain.

The Rev Allister: considers 'Jerusalem' too "nationalistic"

Dear Sir - A group of 16 asylum seekers were discovered underneath a Eurostar train at London's Waterloo station after passengers on the train from Paris heard a knocking sound in compartments beneath the coaches. Officers called to the scene then found five women, two men and nine children all of which were thought to be Romanian.

Typically Labour, Tory and Lib-Dem politicians are not lifting a finger to stop new waves of 'asylum seekers' from entering the country. But there are some people who are determined to stop the sell out of Britain to immigrants from all corners of the globe and you'll find them in the British National Party!

Mark Kelsey
London

Dear Sir - My wife and I would like to thank all those responsible for organising the Red-White-and-Blue 2001. Despite the relentless rain we enjoyed it even more than the year before! The speech on Sunday and the hymn Jerusalem had my wife crying buckets but for me the atmosphere on the Saturday night in the main tent was unforgettable to see all those like minded people coming together and enjoying the music and entertainment gave me hope for the future.

J Griffiths
Tyne & Wear

Dear Sir - I have just returned from the Red-White-and-Blue weekend and had to put pen to paper to congratulate the party on a great weekend.

From the moment we arrived until the moment we left, one could not fail to be impressed with the way in which the party is developing. Many thanks for a great weekend... roll on 2002!

Mrs Karen Hodgson
Birmingham

Dear Sir - I would like to thank the organisers, stewards and all the people who made the recent Red-White-and-Blue weekend a great show.

Despite the constant bad weather, the crowds of people from all generations made the atmosphere electric. I for one can't wait for next year's Red-White-and-Blue!

Mr & Mrs Broydon
Blackpool

Dear Sir - How is it possible for 700 British paratroopers to join a force which totals some 3,500 strong European NATO forces and can then take what is estimated to be anything from 2,000 upwards to 85,000 individual weapons from rebel forces in Macedonia (those figures from Sky News), when in the bitter history of Ulster, over 32 years and having tens of thousands of troops there at any one time our boys have been unable to disarm a gang of IRA criminals with a total membership less than 1000 and illegal arms numbering a mere 2,500 in an area that is geographically smaller than Macedonia?

It would seem our red capped boys are going to be in Macedonia for sometime then! From 1969-1994 inclusive here are the casualties taken on each side: 443 UK British Regulars killed; 492 RUC and UDR Irish killed; 1794 civilians killed; against 335 IRA criminals!

And our pathetic Blairite Government has the audacity to fly Gerry and Martin over to London for tea and biscuits to see how things can progress.

If we are sending our best to the Balkans with the same mentality that they had forced upon them in Ulster what will happen is anybody's guess.

Roll on a BNP Government that will surely unleash the "dogs of war" on the tiny band of Marxist vermin that claim Ireland as their own - and keep our lads out of foreign quarrels that have nothing at all to do with us.

Steve Web letter

Dear Sir - The recent revelation that Newham, in the traditional East End of London, is the Tuberculosis capital of the world, and that asylum seekers from Africa, the Indian sub-continent and Bangladesh are the main cause is shocking.

Having an open door policy to these people is madness, faced as we are with a global Third World population explosion and diminishing border controls at home.

It is a fallacy that the asylum seekers are vulnerable and face persecution. It is indeed native white British people who are vulnerable to all these exotic diseases these people bring with them.

RWB 2001: BIGGER

The second Red-White-and-Blue festival took place in mid-Wales on the weekend of 11th – 12th August amid appalling weather. Strong gusts of wind proved too much for the ten mini-marquees allocated for regional displays (though eight out of ten were later salvaged!), while torrential rain forced the cancellation of outdoor events such as the Tug-o-War, football competition and archery display. But inside the packed main marquees, the atmosphere was often electric.

More than 500 members and supporters attended, with an estimated additional 100 turned away at roadblocks manned by police officers brought in from Merseyside who refused to stick to the arrangements worked out between the event organisers and the local police.

This very marked increase over last year's attendance reflects both the substantial growth the BNP has enjoyed over the last twelve months and the way in which the Red-White-and-Blue has already become the key event in the party calendar.

The big increase in the number of families attending was also very welcome and a good sign for the future. Above all, everyone - except a few unfortunates whose own tents were flooded out - had a fantastic time.

Perhaps the biggest and most successful addition to the first RWB was the presence of so many regional stalls.

These were pioneered last year by kilted Scots down from Dundee - who were back with an even better display this time - and the idea was taken up this year by activists from Ulster, Wales, the South West, London, the East Midlands, the North West, Yorkshire and the North East.

The regional stalls featured everything from traditional local delicacies - such as scrumpy and cheddar cheese from the South West, or black pudding and 'black bullet' sweets from Lancashire - to displays of regional history and BNP activities.

A tremendous amount of careful thought and hard work went into these displays, which really gave visitors a chance to get a flavour of the regional differences and traditions that make up such an important part of our all-too-often neglected heritage.

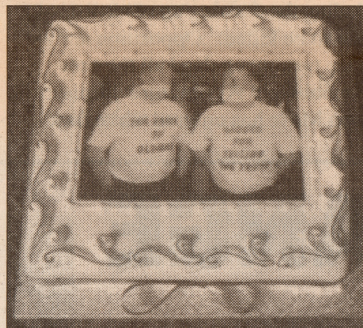

The formal opening of RWB 2001 took place early on Saturday afternoon. The tiered seating was packed as Chairman Nick Griffin explained that, as the weekend would once again end with the singing of 'Jerusalem', it was fitting that it would start with the singing by two young girls of the Welsh language anthem Mae Hen Wlad Fy'n Nhadau (Land of My Fathers) and a meeting chaired by the BNP's Scottish Deputy Chairman Scott McLean.

The enthusiastic meeting featured speakers from all over the British Isles, including new Young BNP leader Mark Collett, Burnley organiser Steve Smith, Bexley organiser James Seadon, Bolton organiser Ian Hague, new Ulster organiser Andy McLorie, Scotland activist Steve Blake, Rhys Williams from Swansea and many, many more.

The evening's entertainment started with hundreds of people enjoying a hog roast with full salad accompaniment, provided by a local butcher.

First on stage as the evening began was North East super-activist Trevor Hughes, who once again had spent part of the Saturday afternoon organising some of the children in the crèche to put on a short costumed presentation of a Northumbrian folk legend. This year's was the tale of Pollard, the plucky young man who slew a giant wild boar that had been terrorising the countryside around Durham.

This was followed by everything from nursery rhymes to a gripping recitation of the Gododdin - the earliest surviving British poem, which recounts the events of a doomed expedition by a Celtic war band in 7th Century Yorkshire.

The evening's music was just as varied, with a session on the piano by Dr. Phil Edwards - who is a competition level pianist as well as the BNP's Press Officer - and two appearances by Meg from Caerphilly who sang various modern ballads and folk classics.

Meg was followed John from Glasgow's pro-BNP band Nemesis, who soon had large sections of the crowd singing along to ballad versions of various white resistance classics, such as If This Is The Way It Ends.

Then there was a surprise appearance by none other than Nick Griffin, with a version of the Ralph McTell classic Streets of London, complete with two brand new and very Politically Incorrect verses. Though one of the biggest surprises, given the rain, was that the firework display went ahead!

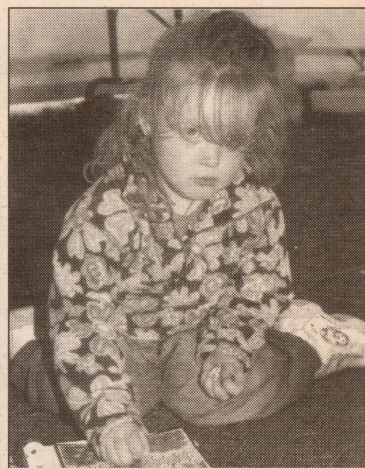

Also singing 'from the floor' was a new lady member, part of a big contingent this year from the Black Country, who drew a huge round of applause by denouncing the way in which our political masters treat our ageing war heroes, before getting the entire audience singing along to Tipperary.

While the rain lashed down on the canvass roof, a packed audience of nearly 500 people created a warm and positively electric atmosphere, especially during the evening's main event, a brilliant set by Stigger.

With the children packed off to bed, Chris Telford showed the crowd why he's had a bit of success as a stand-up comedian in his native North East.

BNP Deputy Chairman Scott McLean chairs the main rally

And his set was followed by a string of contributions from the floor, with jokers from Scotland, Manchester and London drawing roars of politically incorrect laughter from the audience.

The main Sunday event drew another full house.

There were several more well-

Bexley organiser James Seadon speaks during the rally

AND BETTER!

Meg sings for the crowd received speeches, and a fascinating presentation of the hidden history of white slavery by members of the Young BNP.

Then, to a huge roar of applause, BNP chairman Nick Griffin stepped through a screen of dry ice smoke and took the stage for his keynote speech.

After thanks to the various people who had worked so hard to make the weekend such a success, he reviewed the progress made over the previous year, and looked ahead to the work needed to win council seats in the neglected working class areas that have been abandoned by Blair & Co.

Mr. Griffin recounted examples of how BNP activists going into such areas now find themselves welcomed "like liberators."

He concluded by explaining how the events and media coverage of the last few months have created a huge groundswell of potential support for the BNP, which makes securing council election victories and organising new members and groups our top priority. "British National Party? It's about time!"

RWB 2001 attracted a huge amount of media interest. BBC Radio Four and Five both had reporters there, and each put out very fair pieces in which a number of ordinary members handled themselves superbly and came over as a real credit to the party.

HTV news also featured the story, and showed their viewers the contrast between the scruffy far-left rabble scuffling with the police twenty miles away on the Saturday morning, and the enthusiastic but impeccably behaved BNP crowd at the family event.

No fewer than four other TV crews also covered the closing event, including the emotionally-charged finale when the weekend that had started with a Welsh song ended with William Blake's stirring anthem to England's green and pleasant land, Jerusalem.

Pictures of decorated cakes, children and a local organiser in a joke Viking helmet set the tone for a big feature in the Observer, which grudgingly acknowledged that the British National Party is now a family party rather than the street gang of media mythology.

ANNUAL COLLEGE 2001

"Building a modern and well run BNP!"

Due to bad weather forcing the cancellation of the range of seminars that were due to be held at this year's RWB, the party's leadership has decided that these educational and training workshops are of such paramount importance in light of the fact that the council elections are fast approaching, that a separate event will take place on the 13th of October which will include an expanded range of educational presentations.

This one day party education event will be for organisers and key activists only, and will include vital skills ranging from designing local leaflets, fund-raising, political marketing, cyber-activism to electioneering and community politics.

This event is not optional. Organisers and party officials are obliged to attend and if participation is not possible a very credible reason must be presented. The party is now serious about getting its act together - and is prepared to offer the necessary training in order to build a modern and well run BNP!

BUILDING BLOCKS FUND!

£14,000 TARGET! - £13,000 NOW RAISED!

What we stand for

In the British National Party

- A massive expansion of Freedom and Democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people; the adoption of popular referenda & hi-tech direct democracy.
- The establishment of a government that puts British interests first.
- An end to immigration and the scandal of bogus asylum-seekers flooding Britain. The use of the billions now wasted in foreign aid to fund generous 'Homeward Bound' schemes to encourage immigrants to return to their lands of origin.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The use of the £1.8 million per hour we at present pay the EU to fund the restoration of an effective National Health Service and proactive measures to produce a healthier population in the first place.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources including the mass media.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- The introduction of tax incentives and other policies designed to ensure that the City finances British industry rather than foreign competitors.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside; a ban on greenfield-site house building except in cases of genuine local need; an end to field trials of genetically modified crops.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and an end to the 'trendy' teaching methods which have failed our children so badly.
- An alternative defence strategy based on the principle of armed neutrality; no British blood should be shed in conflicts which do not involve vital British interests. The restoration of the County Regiment system and reversal of the defence cuts which have weakened our Armed Forces and cost thousands of jobs.
- The crushing of the IRA and other terrorist groups, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and the establishment of a devolved, non-sectarian parliament in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values and policies aimed at strengthening the family and community. Tough penalties for corruption in public life.
